We will not hold the Event Location, Washington Catfish or the Pageant Directors, responsible for any loss or injury to personal items or for any personal injuries that may occur on the way to, during, or returning from the event. We understand that all judges' decisions are final, and that scores will be placed out for review after all divisions of competition have been completed. We agree to adhere to all rules as stated by the director during the competition. We are aware that we may be asked to leave if the directors feel we exhibit poor sportsmanship, and will lose our entry fee should this occur. We are also aware of the dress code required to accompany a contestant on-stage.
